ACCENTURE INDIA

Leave & Compensation Reference Guide • 3 pages • Prepared from public Accenture information

Important scope note: This is an independent reference summary, not an official Accenture HR document and not a copy of Accenture's employee portal. It uses public information available on Accenture's India careers benefits page. Exact employee entitlements can depend on work state, role, contract, tenure, and internal policy. Salary bands by level are not publicly established by the source used here.

1. Leave and time-off overview

Accenture India's public benefits page states that paid time off (PTO) is based on the state where the employee works and includes earned leave, sick leave, and casual leave. It does not publish a single nationwide PTO total on that page.

Leave / time-off category	Publicly stated information	Practical interpretation
Paid time off (PTO)	Eligibility and number of days depend on the state of employment; PTO includes earned, sick, and casual leave.	Check the employee's state-specific policy and HR portal balance.
Public holidays	10 public holidays per calendar year: 8 fixed and 2 floating.	Confirm the applicable holiday calendar and floating-holiday booking rules.
Primary caregiver / maternity or adoption	26 weeks of paid leave for primary caregivers (adoption included).	Eligibility, documentation, and how this applies to an individual case should be confirmed with HR.
Secondary caregiver	Up to 15 working days of paid leave.	Confirm qualifying events and the period in which leave can be taken.
Bereavement — spouse or child	4 consecutive weeks of leave.	Confirm the internal request process and supporting information, if any.
Bereavement — close family	3 consecutive working days for close family members including parents, parents-in-law, siblings, and grandparents.	Confirm the current internal policy and eligible relationships.

2. How to check leave in the employee portal

Accenture's public careers page does not provide a public, unauthenticated view of an employee's personal leave balance or the full internal leave rules. Use the company's authenticated internal HR portal or HR support channel for employee-specific information.

Step	What to do	What to verify
1. Sign in	Open the internal Accenture employee portal using your company account and approved sign-in method.	Use only official company links and follow MFA/security prompts.
2. Open time off	Look for a section named Time Off, Leave, PTO, Absence, or a similar label (the exact menu may differ).	Available balance, leave type, and the relevant calendar year.
3. Review policy	Open the linked policy or knowledge article for your work location.	State-specific PTO allocation, accrual, carry-forward, expiry, and approval rules.
4. Submit request	Select the leave type, dates, and any required details; submit for manager approval.	Working days versus calendar days, team coverage, and any required notice.
5. Track status	Return to the request history or inbox after submitting.	Pending/approved/rejected status and the updated leave balance.
6. Ask HR if unclear	Use the internal HR support/People Advisor route shown in the portal.	Written confirmation for exceptions, eligibility, or balance discrepancies.

Leave planning checklist

- Check the state-specific policy before relying on a general number.
- Confirm whether holidays and weekends count for the selected leave type.
- Review carry-forward and expiry rules before the end of the leave year.
- Keep manager approval and the request reference for your records.
- For protected or statutory leave, follow applicable law and HR guidance.

Privacy reminder: Never share passwords, MFA codes, employee IDs, salary slips, or screenshots containing confidential employee information with unofficial sites or people.

3. Compensation and level-wise information

Accenture's public India benefits page says base pay is determined by the employee's job, unique skills, impact, and career progression. It describes bonus programs and an Employee Share Purchase Plan (ESPP), but the public page does not provide an official India salary table by internal level.

Compensation item	Publicly stated detail	What is not established publicly on the cited page
Base pay	Based on job, skills, impact, and career progression.	Exact salary ranges by internal level, role, city, or tenure.
Bonuses	Bonus programs recognize employee achievements and contributions.	Individual target percentages, payout amounts, and eligibility rules.
Employee Share Purchase Plan	Eligible employees may buy Accenture shares at a 15% discount; contributions can be up to 10% of pay.	Personal eligibility, enrollment window, and individual payroll settings.
Life insurance	Basic coverage is provided; additional coverage may be purchased for the employee and spouse.	Individual coverage amounts and policy-specific terms.
Personal accident cover	Basic accidental-death coverage is provided; additional coverage may be purchased for the employee and spouse.	Individual insured amount and claim conditions.
Future Service Liability (FSL)	Public page describes a covered lump-sum payout to the nominee in the event of death.	Individual coverage value and full policy terms.

Level-wise compensation: safe way to verify

Do not infer a salary from a generic level label. Internal level names, pay ranges, bonus targets, and benefits may vary by business, role, location, and offer terms. For accurate figures, check the compensation statement/offer letter and the authorized internal compensation resource, or ask HR/your People Advisor.
